Moulding

Mouldings play an important role in the final impression of a room. In addition to the purely practical use of mouldings, they also provide an attractive touch that adds that extra something. The small details set the tone and style of a room. Clean or rustic, the choice is yours.

Originally, each joinery and planing mill produced its own mould designs. Today, though, most moulds follow standard designs to meet the needs of the building industry. Some variations occur but the most common designs are available from Travit.

Naturally, the consumer's taste is the final judge. That's why we offer a variety of mouldings. There is a large selection of sizes, finishings and types of wood to choose from. You'll find floor moulding, ceiling moulding, doorcases and much more in our range of products.
